

Senate Republicans Defeated

Attempt to Reopen Baker Probe Fails

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican move to reopen and expand the Bobby Baker investigation threw the Senate into turmoil before it was defeated by a 42-33 vote.

The short, snappy election-year set-to Thursday was one of the most tumultuous the Senate had seen in many a day.

The highlight was a shouting match between Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., with freshman Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., caught in the middle as the temporary presiding officer.

It was on Mansfield's motion that the Senate voted to table and thus kill a resolution to bring members of the Senate specifically within the scope of the Baker probe and to broaden it to cover the handling of campaign funds and other matters.

The resolution, offered by Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., also would have extended the investigation by the Senate Rules Committee until Sept. 1. The committee's authority now expires at the end of this month.

All 42 votes for tabling the resolution were cast by Democratic senators. Voting against the tabling motion were 24 Republicans and 9 Democrats.

The committee's investigation, in which President Johnson's name figured, was launched after Baker had resigned under fire last Oct. 7 from his $19,600-a-year post as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

The Senate directed the committee to find out whether Baker or other employees or officers of the Senate had engaged in outside business dealings that conflicted with their official duties or that involved other improprieties.

Baker pursued lucrative business ventures while on the Senate payroll. When called as a witness he refused to answer questions, invoking the protection against possible self-incrimination provided by the 5th Amendment to the Constitution.

Williams introduced his resolution to extend and expand the probe after Case went before the committee Tuesday and urged it to ask each senator

Record GOP Oregon Turnout Is Predicted

Victory for Lodge Forecast by Public Opinion Pollsters

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Oregon's Republican free-for-all—a presidential primary election with six candidates and one campaigner—is being settled today.

Election officials forecast a record GOP turnout of about 265,000 voters.

And public opinion pollsters predicted more of them would vote for Henry Cabot Lodge than for any of the other five contenders.

But their election-eve samplings indicated the Lodge lead was tapering off from the wide margin they had forecast earlier.

Step Up Victory Bid

In the face of those predictions, the Lodge campaign forces stepped up their telephone and person-to-person bid for the victory they hope to couple with the absentee ambassador's write-in triumph in New Hampshire two months ago.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller—the only candidate who did his own campaigning—eyed the last-minute polls and declared: "Mr. Lodge is the man to stop in Oregon. I would be very happy to make substantial gains."

Eighteen convention delegates are at stake.

Rockefeller said a powerful showing in Oregon would help his cause in California's June 2 primary, where he and Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater meet head on, with no write-in votes permitted.

"The results in one state influence the people in another state and that is what happened after the New Hampshire primary," he said.

Rockefeller said it will take "a massive effort to break through" and beat Goldwater in California. Unless he does, Rockefeller added, Goldwater will be hard to stop at the Republican National Convention.

86 Convention Votes

The California contest carries 86 convention votes. Goldwater figures with them he would have more than 600 of the 655 votes it will take to win the nomination.

Rockefeller flew to Washington for an intelligence briefing by Johnson administration officials after telling a news conference his month-long Oregon campaign shows the kind of race he would run if he won the nomination.

"I don't think that any Republican, and I don't care who he is, is going to win in November with the kind of campaigning that's been going on in this state by absentee representation," he said.

Goldwater dropped his Oregon campaign a month ago, saying he had to stick close to Washington while the Senate considered the civil rights bill. He has since done some campaigning in California.

His Oregon organization and his two sons, Barry Jr. and Michael, have carried the Goldwater message to Oregon voters.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon got a plug Thursday from a former Secretary of the Interior Fred Seaton.

"I think he'll run very strong," said Seaton, who backed the former vice president in Nebraska's presidential primary last Tuesday. Nixon, who was not on the ballot, captured 31 per cent of the vote.

Goldwater, who was, won with about 50 per cent.

There have been no Oregon campaigns staged for the other two candidates, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine and Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton.

The Lodge forces denied an election eve report they would go to bat for Rockefeller in the California primary.

William H. Lawrence of the American Broadcasting Co. said such a move would be announced Saturday in Los Angeles.

51 Killed, 30 Wounded by Red Guerrillas

Bloody Engagement Takes Place Close To Nation's Capital

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Slipping out of their jungle stronghold in "D" zone north of Saigon, a Communist Viet Cong force smashed a government relief column in one of the bloodiest ambushes of the year.

From dug-in positions along a road, the Viet Cong opened up with heavy weapon and automatic rifle fire that killed 51 government troops. Another 30, including an American Ranger officer, were wounded in the engagement Thursday 22 miles north of Saigon.

Ten Soldiers Missing

Ten soldiers were reported missing.

"We make the same mistakes all the time," a frustrated American adviser commented.

There is an average of one major Viet Cong ambush every week. American advisers are concentrating much of their effort on making the Vietnamese ambush conscious.

The Viet Cong laid their trap Thursday in traditional style by attacking three outposts, the district town of Tan Uyen and a strategic hamlet before dawn.

Frantic radio reports from Tan Uyen, 21 miles north of Saigon, alerted authorities.

The attacks appeared coordinated around Tan Uyen.

By morning, three persons had been reported killed, 10 weapons lost and two radio transmitters stolen. A relief force headed up the road along the Dong Nai River.

Moved In Vehicles

Elements of a Ranger and infantry battalion were in the relief force, which moved in vehicles, American sources said.

The Viet Cong had apparently moved in alongside the road Wednesday night. Reports of the ambush are still sketchy, but apparently the Viet Cong permitted part of the convoy to pass and then opened up.

Other government units were rushed to the region but reported no contact with the Viet Cong.

Stewart Rd. Boy Hit by Car, Injured

An eight-year-old Stewart Rd. boy was injured when he was struck by a Salem area car Thursday at 8:10 p.m. as he crossed the township road by his home.

Alan L. Lodge, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Lodge of RD 3, Stewart Rd., was taken to Salem Central Clinic where he was treated for scratches on the left knee and hip and cuts on his left ankle received when the impact flipped him to the pavement.

The boy was hit by an auto driven east on Stewart Rd. by Robert G. Turner, 19, of RD 3, Salem. The Lisbon post of the State Highway Patrol said Turner was unable to stop in time to avoid striking the boy who walked into the path of the car. The young motorist was not cited.

An East Liverpool motorist was cited for driving left of center after a collision with a Lisbon area car at 4 p.m. Thursday on Route 7, three miles

Fairfield Bd. Plans Building Changes

Plans were advanced for physical improvements of the three buildings in the Fairfield-Waterford School District, a program to be financed through a proposed $350,000 bond issue next fall, and the Board of Education accepted four bids for two 66-passenger buses at its regular meeting Thursday night.

The board voted to seek information from the county auditor on the amount of millage needed to retire the bond issue before moving to place the matter on the November ballot.

The sole change made from plans announced Thursday morning was a proposal to locate the music room at the north end of the gym rather than at the south end of the multi-purpose room. The board felt the previous location would spoil the appearance of Crestview High School's front.

Major changes under the plan would be at Waterford School where six classrooms would be built and the heating system converted. The heating plant at the Fairfield building would also be changed. At the high school, besides the music room, an enlarged shop area is planned.

The Columbiana Motor Co. was the apparent successful low bidder on the two buses, quoting a price, including trade-ins, of $13,702, or $2 below the bid of O. S. Hill Co. of Lisbon.

Woolley's Chevrolet Co. of Leetonia bid $13,830 and Midway Motors, $13,877.

Executive head Joseph Driscoll said the bids will be studied further to determine the size of motors and other specifications before awarding the contract, probably at the regular June meeting.

In other action the board set pay for extra duty by teachers. The adviser for the school paper and annual will be paid an additional sum of $75 each, the board agreed. The junior class teacher who oversees money-raising programs for the junior class will be paid an additional $75.

Permission was granted to cooks to attend a workshop at Kent State University Aug. 23 and to custodians to go to a custodial workshop July 29 in East Canton.

The executive head today reported recent action taken by the board on personnel. Four resignations were accepted and the contracts of an administrator

Brokerage Firm Head Kills Self

No Reason Found For Despondency

NEW YORK (AP)—Vernon C. Walston, president of Walston & Co., one of the nation's largest brokerage firms, killed himself with a double blast from a shotgun at his Wall Street office Thursday night.

His chauffeur, who found the body, told police Walston talked repeatedly about suicide during a day-long drive around the city.

No note was found. Police said they had no clue to the reason for Walston's apparent despondency. His physician said Walston, 58, had been in good health, but may have been working too hard.

Walston & Co., which he founded in 1932, reported assets of $151 million and a net worth of $17.5 million last Aug. 30. It has nearly 100 branches.

Last December the firm absorbed J. R. Williston & Beane, Inc., another brokerage house, which was one of the many victims of the takeover.

Sheen, cited by the Lisbon post of the State Highway Patrol, was not hurt, but about $500 damage resulted to his car.

U.S. To Boost Viet Air Power

Will Hike Tempo Of Pilot Training

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will increase the new striking power planned for the South Vietnamese Air Force by a third, it was learned today.

The 75 additional Skyraider dive bombers now due in South Viet Nam this summer will be boosted to more than 100, informed sources told The Associated Press.

Coupled with this, U.S. advisers will step up the tempo and scope of training to double the present 400 Vietnamese pilots and channel the best of them into flying the propeller-driven attack planes.

Vietnamese flyers already are piloting single-seat Skyraiders and T28 converted trainers in bombing and strafing attacks on Communist guerrillas. They also are operating certain kinds of transports, light reconnaissance planes and helicopters.

The objective of the expanded U.S. effort in this area is to get more of the Vietnamese to fly combat missions and thus to enable U.S. Air Force pilots, in Viet Nam for training chores, to stay out of the fighting as much as possible.

Informants said this is the meaning of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's statement Thursday that it is desirable to increase by 100 per cent the number of Vietnamese pilots and to strengthen further the Vietnamese Air Force.

"This will be done very promptly," McNamara said at the White House after returning

The low bid is $38,643 less than county engineer Charles Snyder's estimate.

Sen. Young Again Bares Finances

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, has once again bared his financial holdings, which he says include more than 9,000 shares of stock in 24 corporations, government bonds worth more than $30,000 and real estate valued at $75,000 above indebtedness.

The 75-year-old Cleveland, who seeks re-election this year against Rep. Robert Taft Jr., first disclosed his finances in 1959 shortly after his election. He since has disclosed his situation from time to time so "citizens can judge whether there is any conflict of interest."

Young's most recent report on his holdings was made in a letter to the secretary of the Senate Wednesday. In it, he said he holds real estate in Cuyahoga County (Cleveland), 80 acres in Mississippi on which there is an oil lease, his Washington residence and a house in Florida.

Young did not say what his stock holdings are worth but did say he is indebted on bank loans totaling $107,600 and secured by collateral worth more than that.

He listed ownership of these shares of stock (100 United Fruit, 404 DuBois Chemical, 100 Collins Radio, 300, Stauffer Chemical, 1000 Clivette Corp. 1,200 Airport Packing Co. of America, 438 Mission Development, 709 Monsanto Chemical, 1701 W. Young listed his 1963 income as: $22,500 senatorial salary, stock dividends and interest on government bonds, $15,263 long term capital gains from sale of stock, and $1,527 for lectures outside of Ohio and for writing articles.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Should an unmarried high school girl bear all the burdens of having a baby alone when she knows who the father is?

Should she have to suffer the shame and disgrace of having a child out of wedlock while the boy who talked her into it goes his merry way?

Should she have to go to the hospital by herself, or be driven by her father, or a neighbor, while the dirty rat who got her that way is out having a good time with his high school pals?

I understand there is no law to force a marriage. Well, why in heaven's name isn't there? If you want to help ease the agony in the world, why don't you wage an all-out campaign to pass a federal law which would force marriage between young people when a pregnancy is involved?—CHAMPION OF JUSTICE.

Dear Champ: Thank you for your suggestion but I already have a campaign. It's the same one I've been pushing for almost nine years. The battle cry goes like this:

It's up to the girl to call the signals and hold that line. Why? Girls get pregnant, boys don't.

I can think of few proposals worse than a law which would force a marriage. Too many marriages between willing partners are hitting the skids these days. What chance do you think a forced marriage would have?

Dinner Guests

Dear Ann: Last night I told Elmer the next time he walks through the front door with two or three unexpected dinner guests, I'm walking right out the back door. Of course, I wouldn't do it, Ann, but I'm at the end of my rope.

Last week he brought home unexpected company twice and I was embarrassed to death. The kids had to eat baloney sandwiches out in the kitchen so the guests couldn't see that there wasn't enough meat to go around. The men Elmer brings are customers, so I have to smile and be pleasant. But it just isn't fair to the kids.

I'm a good cook but I'm no magician. Why can't a man understand that extra people means extra food and extra preparation? If Elmer would give me just two hours' notice I could rattle around and manage somehow. Please tell me what to do.—OUTA' MY MIND.

Dear Outa: Show Elmer this column and let him know that from now on things are going to be different. If he is unwilling to pick up the phone and give you notice he'll have to settle for whatever there is on hand—and it may mean baloney sandwiches for him and the guests.

Be pleasant while serving the sandwiches and make no apologies. One time will be enough to persuade Elmer that you mean business. I'll bet you'll get your two hours' notice after that.

Center of Attention

Dear Ann: My husband and I were invited to dinner at the home of friends. I was unable to get an appointment at the beauty parlor so I wore a tight-fitting silk turban which I had made out of the left-over material from my dress.

When we arrived the hostess asked us to remove our wraps. I took off my coat and entered the living room. The hostess asked in a loud voice so that everyone could hear, "Aren't you going to take off your hat?" I replied, "No"—and explained why. She laughed and insisted my hair couldn't look that bad.

Before long my hair and the turban turned out to be the major topic for discussion, with all the guests joining in and offering opinions. I was embarrassed and my entire evening was ruined.

On the way home my husband said I should have removed my hat from the start and avoided all the trouble. Yes or not?—HATTED AND HEATED.

Dear H and H: If you had arrived wearing a shower cap and wished to keep it on all evening the hostess should have said nothing. She was rude—but you were foolish to let it spoil your evening. It wasn't worth it.

Away for Summer

By KEN HARTNETT

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. G., and then he goes back to Chicago and we just about have our little home back to normal when this man and woman come to the door. They tell us they are second cousins from Chicago and Lou told them how much he enjoyed staying with us and that we would be happy to have them stay too.

She loves it especially in the summer when she can while away the hours amid the roses while her grandchildren play nearby.

But this summer Mrs. G. and her husband, Tony, will be far away, perhaps in San Francisco. They haven't decided where just yet.

They are certain of just one thing: They must escape from under the shadow of the New York World's Fair in Flushing Meadows.

"It is a matter of survival," explained Mrs. G. "We just couldn't live through another 1939 and if we stay in Queens, it will begin all over again."

What happened in 1939 was another New York World's Fair in Queens. The new one is even bigger.

"We had only Angela then. She was 3. We had only a three-room apartment in Brooklyn. It wasn't much but it was nice enough for our needs. Then Lou came to New York to see the fair."

"Lou is Tony's brother from Chicago. He's a regular guy full of fun and Tony likes him a lot. He's always playing little jokes like putting the sugar in the salt cellar or taking the screws out of the handle to the refrigerator."

"Well, Lou stays about a week

stayed for two weeks. Every day they would go out to the fair and come home just in time for supper and to tell me how to cook my minestrone.

"So this year when Lou sent us a letter saying he was coming this summer to visit the fair I wrote right back to him and told him to enjoy himself but we were going away for the summer."

"Now, I like Lou. After all, he is my husband's brother, but let me tell you, he wrote right back suggesting we leave the key to the house under the door mat. He said it would be a shame to let such a lovely house so near the fair go to waste."

"There are nifty people in the world, let me tell you. Tony's brother or not, the Universe should fall on him. Maybe it would teach him a lesson."

"What could we do? We couldn't slam the door in their faces and have them go back to Chicago and tell Lou and have Lou think that his own brother had no family feeling. So they stayed."

"Most of the relatives were very nice, but there was this one third cousin that kept telling me I didn't know how to cook minestrone and she just had to have minestrone every day. She and her husband stayed for two weeks. Every day they would go out to the fair and come home just in time for supper and to tell me how to cook my minestrone.

"So this year when Lou sent us a letter saying he was coming this summer to visit the fair I wrote right back to him and told him to enjoy himself but we were going away for the summer."

"Now, I like Lou. After all, he is my husband's brother, but let me tell you, he wrote right back suggesting we leave the key to the house under the door mat. He said it would be a shame to let such a lovely house so near the fair go to waste."

"There are nifty people in the world, let me tell you. Tony's brother or not, the Universe should fall on him. Maybe it would teach him a lesson."

Bond Procedure Was Legal

The legal cloud that had been hanging over Ohio's $250 million capital improvements bond issue has been dispelled by the State Supreme Court. The capital improvements program, consisting chiefly of improvements to higher education facilities, can get back into motion.

The legal issue raised was in two parts: Whether there had been improper delegation of authority to the state finance director to levy a tax at his discretion to pay off the $250 million bond issue authorized by statewide vote last November, and whether this jeopardized a previous bond issue of $150 million for capital improvements authorized by statewide vote in 1955. Both were to be paid for with a one-cent tax on cigarettes.

The specific question raised was whether power given the state finance director to check the Ohio treasury each month to determine if enough money was on hand to pay the bonds with the revenue from a penny-a-pack on cigarettes was illegal. The supporting argument behind the question was that the finance director had been given, in effect, power to levy an additional tax on cigarettes if necessary, tap the revenue fund and even to have resort to the "faith and credit of the state of Ohio" to secure the bonds. This, it was argued, was "raw power," in violation of the separation of legislative and executive power and therefore unconstitutional.

The Ohio Supreme Court has ruled this was a procedure properly defined and assigned; that the procedure in no way jeopardized the security of the previous bonds.

Thus, the security of the new issue as well as the old issue has been certified by the high court in a clear-cut decision, to the satisfaction of both current and future bondholders. The legal cloud over the $250 million issue now has grown a silver lining and Ohio can get on with its capital improvements program.

No Speak Any 'Russky'

Philip McKenzie, the Portsmouth, O., 14-year-old visiting Russia with his parents in repayment of a visit last Christmas by a Russian family, was involved in an exchange with Russian students his own age that could give U.S. educators something to think about in months to come.

Speaking fluent English, the Russian teen-agers crowded around Philip to ask questions about education in the United States. What languages was he studying? Had he read the works of Russian authors?

Speaking no Russian, Philip had to reply through a translator that his school library had few books by Russian authors, and he was studying Latin, French and Spanish. Latin, he explained, was useful for studying other languages, though it was dead.

Many children abroad, Russia included, are taught English routinely, along with their own and at least one other language—all of them alive. This is done to enable them to communicate in a part of the world whose knowledgeable inhabitants must be multilingual to survive.

Not only do they study other languages; they speak them and write them. This accounts for the often-remarked fact that students from abroad who come to the United States are able to communicate in English better than any but a handful of Americans can communicate in any other language but their own.

Educators in months to come can think about that, along with the fact they are lucky if they succeed in teaching American children to communicate clearly in their own language, let alone one or two others.

The Best Healing Salve

Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York is the first prominent Republican to put into plain words the confusion being generated inside his party by a clash of "hot-headers," as he calls them.

These are the leaders of the party's left and right wings. Sen. Javits, a liberal, has been disturbed by the apparently successful candidacy of Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Arizona conservative.

For his own part, he admits, he cannot commit himself to support Sen. Goldwater as the Republican presidential nominee. He would support other Republicans, he says. He would not defect to the opposition party. But he wouldn't commit himself in advance to help a Goldwater candidacy.

This is the obverse side of a threat by ultra-conservative Republicans in the event a candidate acceptable to Sen. Javits gets the nomination. They would not go for one of the mistrusted "Eastern Republicans," they threaten.

The best healing salve for these ideological lacerations has been made into a proprietary medicine by the Democrats, who use the stuff routinely. It is the prospect of power through unity.

No breach of views in politics is wider than the one between liberal and reactionary Democrats. Yet, whenever Democrats think of power through unity they draw together as if their bonds were indissoluble. The North and the South are as one, also the East and West. Even whites and Negroes see eye to eye until Democratic ballots have been marked.

You could bet on Sen. Javits and his ideological "foes" in the Republican party to be standing shoulder to shoulder within five minutes after word has gone out, if it ever did, that Lyndon B. Johnson had ceased to be a shoo-in favorite for election. Their differences would be plastered over faster than the Democrats plastered over Bobby Baker.

It's fore on the golf course and maybe five or six in the clubhouse.

The law seems to be the only thing that makes some drivers stop to think.

The Message

By Truman Twill

Some time ago a great university (Ohio State) took into account the timeless interest of boys and girls in each other and set aside a campus parking lot as an official "lovers' lane."

The thought behind this was worthy of the kind of wisdom that should control great universities — that the university neither wanted to nor thought it could stop the attraction of the sexes for each other but could and would give young men and women security in parked cars they could never get on lonely country roads.

They undoubtedly, had in mind the dreadful possibilities of molesters and a growing list of violent deeds. On the campus parking preserve, it was announced, there would be police protection. It would be neither against the law nor regarded as against custom and mores for boys and girls to be demonstrably fond of each other.

This was a forward step out of an ancient standoff.

IT WAS A declaration that auto theaters were not entitled to a monopoly on after-dark parking off the highway.

It served notice that young people in a mood for hand-holding were entitled to the protection of the law.

It gave assurance to parents of students that the university had the safekeeping of their sons and daughters at heart and would do whatever was possible to protect them if they wanted to give their undivided attention to each other in a parked car.

All of which leads up to an announcement:

If it ever becomes possible for me to live like a millionaire, one of my benefactions will be a parking lot featuring large trees and hedgerows, with an all-season blacktop surface.

This "lover's lane" will be securely fenced and policed. Admittance will be by fee, and the gatekeeper will reserve the right to bar anyone he mistrusts.

But he will be a stranger in the community, so no personal feeling or prejudice will be involved.

FOR A NOMINAL fee, a young man and his girl then can purchase a legal right to hold hands in a parked car, with as much security as they could expect in the girl's own parlor, if that were as feasible as it used to be when dating was less frequent and less mobile than it has become in the auto age.

Would this be so startling? Would there be a hue and outcry?

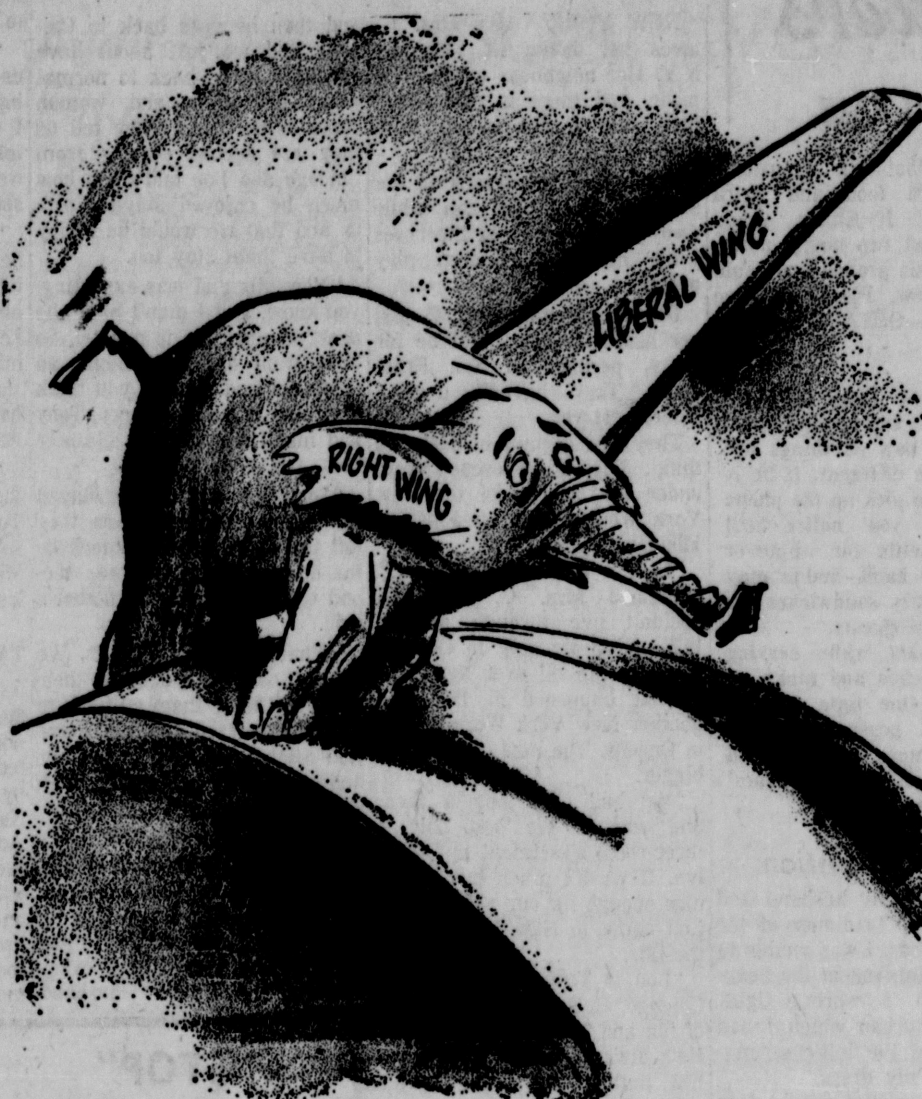

Would tongues wag and legislators fume?

Would the force of virtue and uprightness be turned against it full blast? Would editorialists thump their typewriters and write, "It is high time that public authority quit dozing and moved fearlessly to clean up this loathsome scandal!"

You can bet on it.

But it would not worry me because I would be living like a millionaire and giving benefactions. I'd offer to benefactors something the complainants would like. They would get the message.

The Flight to San Francisco May Be Rough

Issue Sharply Defined

By VICTOR RIESEL

At the very moment that Barry Goldwater's riproaring forces were planting their banners right in the heart of Nelson Rockefeller's bailiwick, special strategists of the governor's met in a little known hotel headquarters planning a counter-invasion of the senator's

California stronghold — but with a dramatic twist.

After many transcontinental telephone conferences, Mr. Rockefeller is now set to call on California labor to rally to him and stop the Arizonaan from winning not only the June but the Republican presidential nomination itself.

This appeal will go to Democrats as well as Republicans. Though the former can't vote in the GOP primaries, the Democratic labor leaders and their campaign machinery, COPE Committee On Political Education, can supply manpower, money, literature, distribution squads and doorbell ringers on primary day — and open their union halls to Rockefeller publicists and propagandists armed with leaflets and film projection equipment.

GOV. ROCKEFELLER himself will make the appeal just 10 days before the primary from a platform supplied by powerful California labor leaders eager to halt Sen. Goldwater's speeding bandwagon. When Mr. Rockefeller speaks out he'll be surrounded by influential AFL-CIO leaders.

The platform will be the dais of a luncheon — not yet announced — scheduled to be given in the governor's honor by officials of the California State Building and Construction Trades Council at the Los Angeles Town House on May 22.

The New Yorker's official host will be Bryan P. Deavers, president of the state council, whose headquarters are in San Francisco. It was Deavers who two weeks ago dispatched letters to hundreds of unions urging them to work hard for Nelson Rockefeller. It was Deavers who alerted the state council's 27 powerful regional building and construction union branches which cover all of California.

It was Deavers — whose organizations make up a large section of the 1.7 million member California AFL-CIO — who agreed to run the luncheon rally as a stop-Goldwater move.

ON THE PLATFORM with the governor that day will be AFL-CIO Vice President Lee Minton, chairman of the National Labor for Rockefeller Committee.

This committee, operating out of the Hotel Roosevelt at New York, has been unique in American political activity. It has been working through many labor leaders who will probably back President Johnson in the November election.

Common cause has been made in the campaign against Mr. Goldwater. This has been the pattern ever since the now almost forgotten New Hampshire primary.

There, for example, Mr.

Rockefeller took the city of Laconia with the help of the 700 members of the United Steelworkers employed at the big mill. The state AFL-CIO also swung behind the governor.

Unnoticed, too, is the support of Mr. Rockefeller by the Connecticut Republican Labor League. While not as powerful as the pro-Democratic COPE organization, it has some influence under the leadership of Jack Fusari, a unionist and GOP majority leader of the New Britain City Council.

IN DETROIT, James Hoffa's home Local 299 ran a rally for Gov. Rockefeller on April 6. Significantly enough, the Teamsters have not been able to deliver politically. They failed to get out a Rockefeller vote in New Hampshire and whipped up only some 500 as an audience in the auto city.

In Oklahoma, the N.Y.-based Rockefeller labor committee poured literature — and Mr. Rockefeller's personal statements — into the successful fight to defeat the "right-to-work" proposal.

In Oregon, the governor has had the active support of COPE — with the full knowledge and cooperation of COPE's national office in Washington, D.C.

It's the California labor movement on which the "Rocky" forces are concentrating. The national labor headquarters in New York City has put on night shifts to handle the huge mailings from the Hotel Roosevelt to thousands of California locals and regional union groups.

THE MAILINGS are handled by girls who are members of Office Employees International Union, Local 153, whose officials have been close to the governor in the past.

Support in California has been found in a Retail Clerks Union, Common Laborers Locals and in the Building Service Employees' dearth of laborite Democrats attempting to influence the 25 per cent of the state's union members who are Republicans to go to the polls and vote against Sen. Goldwater.

Thus, the issue now is even more clear cut than before. It's Barry Goldwater's aggressive, sharply defined conservatism against a Rockefeller liberalism which now includes an open alliance with the labor movement. That is the significance of the May 22 broad-breaking.

A Stand on 'Rights'

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Since the Chamber of Commerce of the United States is the largest body of businessmen in the country — representing approximately 3 1/2 million constituent members from all kinds of businesses it's significant that the president, Walter F. Carey, has sent to the 100 senators a letter severely criticizing certain parts of the civil rights bill now pending in the Senate.

Up to now, the impression has been conveyed to the nation that most of the people who want to amend the measure are either extremists or fascists or persons who would deny equal opportunity to minority groups because of race or color or religion.

The Chamber itself takes no position at all on any other parts of the civil rights bill, but it does specifically single out Title VII — the section dealing with equal employment opportunity.

Behind the scenes in Congress, there is much concern over this particular topic in the civil rights debate. There are rumors that, if a motion for cloture to force a vote on this section were acted on, it would fail. In fact, it is reported that the administration leaders are hesitant to attempt to shut off the Senate's discussion and may find themselves in the position of having to accept compromises in order to get action on this part of the bill.

THE CRITICISM of the equal employment opportunity section of the bill expressed in the formal statement by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce is that "the meaning of certain provisions is vague" and that "the authority granted federal administrators is excessive." Mr. Carey's statement says:

"These and other deficiencies, which I shall enumerate, could be seriously harmful to the conduct of American business. They also would help defeat the very purpose for which Title VI is being urged — to expedite the elimination of any discrimination in employment based upon race, color, religion, sex or national origin."

"The national Chamber recommends that the powers of the federal equal employment opportunity commission... be limited to conciliation and persuasion. We are very dubious about the value of court proceedings and orders to accomplish the hoped-for results."

"But in the event Congress decides to retain provisions for court enforcement of actions recommended by the commission, the minimum requirement is that you give careful consideration to the need for seven amendments to Title VII."

One of the amendments proposed by the Chamber would specify that only willful acts of discrimination should constitute violations of the law. It's recommended also that "good faith" should be permitted as "a defense for all persons accused of discrimination."

IT'S FURTHER argued that the proposed commission should have no jurisdiction in states which already have laws forbidding discrimination and that accused persons should be granted certain rights of appeal on the issue of jurisdiction.

The record-keeping requirements are described as "onerous." Also, it's contended that the bill as it stands now might even prevent a man who fails in business from abandoning his enterprise. "The Chamber's statement, therefore, says:

"The bill should be amended to specify that an employer who chooses to discontinue his business may do so."

The point is made, moreover, that only persons who claim to be aggrieved should be able to file charges, lest questionable cases of alleged discrimination by other than the aggrieved parties be encouraged.

FINALLY, the Chamber recommends that only the commission itself should be able to institute court proceedings but that, if individuals are allowed to bring court proceedings, two or more of the five members of the commission should be required to approve such proceedings in order to "preclude frivolous cases brought for the purpose of harassment."

Perhaps the most significant recommendation in Mr. Carey's statement — made in letters to the 100 members of the Senate — is the concluding paragraph:

"But in the event no changes, or only inconsequential changes, are put forward as amendments to Title VII, then I strongly urge you to press for its complete elimination from H.R. 7152 (the House-passed civil rights bill now pending in the Senate)."

The Chamber of Commerce has not become involved in any way in the merits of the other sections of the bill, but its announced position on the equal employment opportunity section is a sign of the unrest that has developed among its members in all parts of the country over the proposed law that would put the federal government in virtual control of hiring and other employment practices.

LABOR UNIONS have invaded this field from time to time by compelling employers, under threats of strikes, to write contracts granting unions the right to say who shall be employed. There has been some labor union criticism of this section of the bill, but the most pronounced comment comes from the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, and it has made a profound impression on members of Congress.

There are intimations from Capitol Hill that the equal employment opportunity section, unless materially changed, could actually prolong the debate and that it is really more responsible for criticism than what is known as the public accommodations section which deals with discrimination in hotels, motels and eating places.

Tells Of Orlando Project

I have pleasant memories of Salem and I have been reading in the Salem News about the beautification of the Village Green.

I'd like to tell you how the city of Orlando (Fla.) has just succeeded in putting over a painless campaign for $25,000. Daily stories and reports were the first thing we looked for in the Orlando Sentinel and it was a thrilling series. The project was to send our two outstanding high school bands to the World's Fair, one in June and one in August.

I just hope it will be possible for the committee in Salem to raise the $1,100 for the war monument on the Village Green with the same enthusiasm we had in raising our $25,000.

TV-Radio Today

By ALAN GILL
Rita, the Storm

She's a fresh-faced urchin with a thousand freckles on her mug and her mischievous smile could have been drawn on her by Walt Kelly. Her hair is a nest woven by a tipsy magpie. She stands no higher than your elbow and weighs no more than a carpet sweeper. She is 18 years old, will shortly be a millionaire, is named Rita Pavone, and is the rock 'n' roll sensation of Italy, Germany, Spain, Latin America, and, in just five or six minutes, the English-speaking world.

YOU WILL SEE what I mean Sunday night, May 17, on "The Ed Sullivan Show," when, clad in her usual ensemble of boy's shirt, suspenders, peak cap, trousers, and boots, she stomps through her rendition of "Remember Me" and "Just Once More." Earlier this week, she stomped through them for a fellow who'd come knocking at her hotel room door. It seems her manager, a suave chap named Teddy Reno, had slipped a recording of "Remember Me" onto the turntable, had turned the volume up to a clangor that threatened to shake the New York Hilton to its foundations, and had bade the little imp to pantomime the number.

Rita unsnagged her booted, trousered, and shirt-sleeved joints, stalked to the center of the carpet and, quite suddenly, fell into a paroxysm of wagging shoulders and egg-beating knees. Her right hand gestured a "Hey, c'mere" with every beat and her right eye, the size of a telephone dial, winked a junior witch's wink. It may not be art, but it sure is show biz.

For a girl who was a simple assistant seamstress (le piccine, or "very little one") less than two years ago, Rita has come along a bit from $2 a week to $21,000 a week now. More than 8 million of her records have been sold.

Her first American album, just cut by RCA Victor, will be out the first week in June, containing 12 songs in crisp, lean English phonetically learned by Miss Pavone in a mere three days. The great Frederico Fellini believes the girl with her expressive face has a great future in films. And Rita herself will soon be talking about the same subject.

OH, YES, THERE'S a TV series coming up in Italy in the fall, with Rita playing a small boy named "Giam Burrasca" (John the Storm) dressed in the Fauntleroy garb of 1910 and cavorting about in musical adventures not too dissimilar from the shenanigans of Dennis the Menace.

Other measures of her success? Well, her "Now That You're Gone" has been the No. 1 record in Italy, her "If I Was a Boy" was tops on the German Hit Parade for months, and her records have simultaneously placed first, fourth, and sixth in the hearts of the Argentinians. Her fan mail sometimes mounts literally thousands of mash notes a day. ("Many of them are marriage offers," she said through an interpreter. "There's a duke in Sicily who keeps writing letters proposing marriage, but I've said clearly that I'm not interested. He still writes, but I don't answer.")

SHE CAN NOW AFFORD a wardrobe of 70 suspenders, 70 shirts, 70 trousers, and a dozen or so pairs of boots. Her father, who worked in a Fiat plant in Turin until all the excitement began, has retired and has just opened a tavern in Rome called the Pavone Bar. High on one of the hills of Rome, in a suburb called Aricia, the Pavone family — father, mother, three boys, and Rita — is building a rather sumptuous villa, in "English country style."

Best of all, Rita now tools about the country in a midsize MG. "The horn has a stupid klaxon sound," she said, giggling a very young giggle, "the same noise made by the bus going to Rome. Everybody thinks the bus is coming. But then they see it's me and they call, 'Rita! Rita! Rita!'" (Publisher's Newspaper Syndicate)

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

If any one thinks he is religious, and does not bridle his tongue but deceives his heart, this man's religion is vain. —James 1:26.

There are voices of greed, racial suspicion, hate, revenge, folly. The world is clearing its throat. Let the men of God speak. We have the Word. We have the responsibility. —Orlo Chogull.

DEAR HELOISE: When moving... tape nails, screws, picture hangers, etc., to the back of the picture, plaque, etc., to which they belong... as you take the object from the wall.

The necessary items will be right there when you are ready to hang the objects in your new home.

Sure saves time and tempers.

MRS. MARY THORNTON. DEAR HELOISE: I use those little knitted stretch covers for the bottom of glasses, or soda pop bottles, on my door knobs. They really do the trick.

Fold one in half and slip it over the door knob. It's great!

Beauty for the asking
By JOSEPHINE KAERCHER, Beauty Consultant.
MERLE NORMAN COSMETICS STUDIO

When your whole life is devoted to complexion care and beauty aids, you sometimes get the feeling that the old wheeze about "schoolgirl complexion" must have been aimed at the first-grade child of 1902.

Just look around you at the average adolescent girl. It's the lucky one indeed who seems to have the lovely glowing look you associate with schoolgirls.

They're going through a genuine "growing up" period. Their body chemistry is changing. Their diets are subject to whimsical intakes of hamburgers, cokes, milk shakes, candy bars and popcorn at all hours, and their complexions are subject to "blossoms" — those ugly little whiteheads and blackheads that pop out here and there on an otherwise delicate skin!

Despite the abuses these teenagers heap upon their sturdy young bodies, they still can have clear complexions if they'll just follow some simple rules for complexion care.

And the first of these rules is cleanliness. Soap is not necessarily the answer to being really clean — for boy or girl. In the first place, you have to be sure it's all rinsed off, every bit of it.

That takes time and effort, and still doesn't do the job. If you'll just use a rich deep-cleansing all-purpose cold cream! Leave it on your face and neck long enough to gather up the surface soil — and then tissue it away.

Twice a week at least try using a genuine complexion stimulant, a liquid miracle that does the most amazing things to an otherwise unclear complexion.

After this apply a chemically mated foundation cream — and you're well on the way to acquiring the kind of complexion that used to be known as "schoolgirl".

Please, if you're a teenager (or an adult) with complexion problems, phone or write to me, care of this newspaper. I'm sure I can help. In any event, please do let me treat you to a free hour of beauty.

Khrushchev, Nasser On Fishing (?) Trip

CAIRO (AP)—Premier Khrushchev cruised the Red Sea today with President Gamal Abdel Nasser, leaving the world to wonder whether they were talking politics or just telling fish stories.

Officially the trip is a fishing vacation aboard the presidential yacht Hourryia, complete with the Nasser and Khrushchev families.

However, Algeria's President Ahmed Ben Bella and Iraqi President Abdel Salam Aref also went along. It was doubtful that all these political personalities would stick to fishing.

from Saigon and reporting to President Johnson.

The defense secretary also spoke of the need to increase South Viet Nam's regular and paramilitary forces "very substantially and very soon" and of other steps to protect the peasant population from more active Communist terrorism.

The defense secretary's remark that it may be necessary to send over certain additional U.S. personnel to expand the training of the beefed-up Vietnamese forces is in line with what he has said in the past.

But, once again, McNamara made it plain that U.S. policy is to bring home U.S. trainers then their job is done—for example, to withdraw specialists in aircraft maintenance when the Vietnamese have learned to handle the job themselves.

Yearbooks At Salem High Due May 26

That magical hour that makes even the brightest May day still more brilliant is 11 days off for Salem Senior High School students.

Through the halls will be heard, "Write in my book and I'll write in yours." Pages will soon be filled with such inscriptions as "Lots of luck in years to come" or "The best of everything to my favorite classmate."

They'll be sweet words, sweeter as the years fly by. The flood of end-of-school word-bouquets will begin Tuesday, May 26, when the Quaker annual is distributed, one of the true highpoints of the year for lowly sophs through lofty seniors, ready to depart Quaker domain.

The student body will sit through an assembly, studded with surprises and excitement, before the Quakers are passed out.

"The assembly at 2:30 p.m. will be to recognize all who have worked on the yearbook or the Quaker newspaper," adviser-teacher Barbara Coburn said. Certificates and pins will be presented.

Closely guarded is the theme of the yearbook, which will be announced by editor-in-chief Betsy Heston.

The "Who's Who" will be revealed, disclosing the student "most likely to succeed" and a raft of other such honors bestowed by senior classmates on their fellows.

Climax of the program will be the crowning of the Quaker king and queen. By that time, Miss Coburn will have presented awards to the editors of both yearbook and newspaper and David Freshly will have done the same for the business managers of the publications. For the yearbook, besides Miss Heston, Dee Whitney and Sue Schmid are copy editors. Newspaper editors are Bi-weekly editors are Pat Schrom, news editor; Pat Price and Bonnie Youtz, feature editors; and Richard Stratton and Mark Albright, sports editors.

Bill Hart is the business manager of the yearbook and John Stratton holds the same position with the newspaper. Also awaited, especially by juniors and sophomores, is next year's upperclassmen, is the announcement of new editors and business managers of the publications for 1964-65. Largely, these are the decisions of Miss Coburn and Freshly who make the selections on the basis of ability.

Miss Coburn said the yearbook is expected to arrive at the high school next week. It will be under close wraps until distribution at the assembly.

In leading the fight against the Williams resolution in Thursday's wild uproar, Mansfield accused Republicans of "thinly-veiled innuendoes" and said if they had any specific charges to make against any of their colleagues they should submit them to the rules committee. "Put up or shut up," he said heatedly.

In a voice breaking with emotion, Case protested that Mansfield had imputed conduct unbecoming to a senator to him, in violation of the rules, and demanded that he be recognized on a point of personal privilege.

Case kept shouting for recognition. Kennedy told him to take his seat and after consulting the Senate parliamentarian ruled that the clerk should call the roll.

GOP Cites 'Poverty' on Johnson Land

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Republican congressmen report "deplorable poverty" among tenants on Alabama farmland owned by Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson. The rejoinder from an aide to the First Lady is that they are permitted to stay at their own request despite other plans for use of the property.

Reps. Dave Martin of Nebraska and M.G. Snyder of Kentucky opened the exchange at a news conference Thursday, describing what they saw on a trip financed by the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee.

Martin and Snyder, both opponents of the Johnson antipoverty bill, suggested the President ought to follow the Christian admonition "put your house in order" before preaching his antipoverty doctrine.

Elizabeth Carpenter, staff director for Mrs. Johnson, discussing the criticism with reporters, said Mrs. Johnson has been putting the property into timber for a better profit as it became vacant.

"What would they have Mrs. Johnson do—make them move off the land?" she asked.

She cited in particular the case of Charlie Cutler, 75, who has lived on the land since Mrs. Johnson's grandfather owned it. She said Cutler wrote Mrs. Johnson Jan. 12, 1963, saying: "I am too old to farm but I would like you to let me live in the house until death, please."

south of Rogers.

Myer J. Pearlman, 62, was charged with the violation after his northbound car went left of center on a curve and sideswiped a southbound auto driven by Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Ferguson, 56, of RD 3, Lisbon.

Two vehicles crashed when both drifted slightly left of center at 1:30 p.m. Thursday on Route 39, about seven miles west of Wellsville. Involved in the mishap were a pickup truck operated by David Lee Tice, 33, of RD 1, Wellsville, and a car operated by Ralph W. Owens, 21, of RD 1, Salineville.

The Lisbon Patrol yesterday cited three motorists involved in two recent hit-skip incidents, one of which injured a young New Springfield cyclist.

Cited were Oliver B. Gibson, 20, of 280 N. Boardman St., New Springfield, driving his motorcycle left of center, and Richard H. Reash, 40, of RD 2, Columbiana, and Bundy Warren Steele, 40, of Boardman St., New Waterford, both charged with failure to stop after an accident.

Reash's pickup and Gibson's motorcycle sideswiped May 7 at 5:45 p.m. on County RD 421, about one and a half miles north of New Waterford. Gibson suffered a broken arm and head cuts.

Steele's sedan sideswiped a convertible operated by Diana J. Wudke, 21, of 553 W. Martin St., East Palestine, on Saturday night at 11:30 on Route 14, just west of Unity. After the mishap, Steele called Miss Wudke who in turn notified the East Palestine police. They called the Lisbon Patrol.

An investigation has yielded no new information on a mysteriously burned car owned by a Salem woman. The sedan, owned by Mrs. Paul J. Dillon of 840 Summit St., was found ablaze by the Leetonia Fire Department at 1:55 a.m. last Saturday on Butcher Rd.

Willie Mays Held Hitless
Mets Whip Braves; Phillies Nip Cards

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
Say Hey, look what Bob Bruce did!

Bruce held Willie Mays hitless for the first time in 21 games, setting the San Francisco slugger down four times Thursday night and slicing Mays' average 19 points to .449 as the Houston Colts defeated the National League-leading Giants 4-3.

It was the first time Mays had been held hitless since April 16, when he was stopped by St. Louis' Curt Simmons in the third game of the season.

While Mays was having his first difficult night in almost a month, the Los Angeles Dodgers swept a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs 6-4 in 10 innings and 5-0, but ace left-hander Sandy Koufax again failed to turn in a strong performance.

Koufax was unable to finish for the third straight game and was clipped for four runs in four innings of the opener. Don Drysdale, however, turned in a brilliant effort in the nightcap for the Dodgers, winning his fifth straight complete game with a four-hitter for a 5-1 record.

Elsewhere, Richie Allen homered in the seventh inning for Philadelphia's 3-2 victory over St. Louis and the New York Mets drubbed Milwaukee 12-4. Cincinnati and Pittsburgh were not scheduled.

Bruce, who brought his record to 4-1 with ninth-inning relief help from Hal Woodeshick, was tagged for a two-run triple in the sixth inning by Tom Haller and went into the seventh trailing 3-2.

The Colts tied it when Bob Shaw was touched for singles by Eddie Kasko and Nellie Fox before forcing in a run by walking Al Spangler and Walt Bond. When Shaw walked John Bateman in the eighth, Billy Pierce came on, but it was too late. Singles by Kasko and Spangler got the winning run home.

The Cubs bolted to a 4-0 lead against the Dodgers in the first game, three runs scoring on Ron Santo's homer. The Dodgers caught up in the eighth on Jim Gilliam's homer and won it in the 10th when Tommy Davis singled and Frank Howard hit his 11th homer.

In the nightcap, the Dodgers provided Drysdale with a 3-0 lead in the first two innings, cashing in on four stolen bases and five walks by Fred Norman. Davis stole three bases.

Ernie Broglio was pitching a two-hit shutout for the Cardinals when the Phillies tied the score in the sixth with two runs. Singles by Tony Taylor and Allen plus two grounders get one run across before John Herrnstein singled in another. Allen's homer then won it for Jim Bunning, now 4-1 with the aid of Ed Roebuck's relief help.

The Mets stroked 15 hits against Braves' starter Warren Spahn and three successors. Dick Smith slammed three key doubles for New York while Ron Hunt also chipped in with three hits.

Finals Slated Tonight At 7
Class AA District Track Meet Slated

The first of 630 athletes from 41 schools began seeking berths for tonight's finals as preliminaries got under way in the Class AA district track and field meet at Reilly Stadium at noon.

Preliminaries and finals were to be completed this afternoon in the weight events, pole vault, high jump and broad jump, with prelims and semi-finals slated in the 120-yard high hurdles, 100-yard dash, 180-yard low hurdles and 220-yard dash.

Of the 41 schools represented, 38 have full teams. Youngstown Rayen was rated a slight favorite to dethrone defending champion Youngstown South.

A lot of attention will be focused on Columbiana which features one of the state's fastest dash stars in Jim Ward, and hurdler-high jumper Fred Gosey.

Salem expects to pick up some points in the mile run, the 880-yard and mile relays, and possibly the shot put and discus throw.

Almost all of the current records are in jeopardy including the pole vault mark which is the oldest set by a former Salem great Rib Allen, who cleared 13 feet, 1 1/4 inches in 1928.

Tickets for the finals, which will get under way at 7 p.m., will cost 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for students.

Power Loses Job To Mincher
Who Paces Twins to Win

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Vic Power used to be Minnesota's starting first baseman. Along came outfielder Tony Oliva's No. 2 first baseman. Now comes Don Mincher, and Power again may be a starting first baseman—for some other team.

Mincher's recent slugging feats have made the veteran Power even more expendable than he had been when Oliva's presence forced outfielder Bob Allison to first base.

Mincher hit his fourth home run in five games Thursday as Minnesota clobbered the Chicago White Sox, 15-7.

Power probably is the best defensive first baseman in the American League. But rookie Oliva is hitting even better than expected while sluggers Allison, Jimmie Hall and Harmon Killebrew are producing at their usual home run pace.

Now, with Mincher acting as if he wants in on a good thing, Twins' Manager Sam Mele finds himself with five power hitters for four positions. That doesn't leave much room for Power, Minnesota a badly needed pitcher in a trade.

The 25-year-old Mincher trails Hall 9, Allison 9 and Oliva 7 in home runs, but he's tied with Killebrew at six each. His .356 who conceivably could bring batting average is second only to Oliva's .414 for the Twins.

The first baseman has hit three of his last four homers with two runners on base. His blast Thursday, one of six for the Twins, was good for three runs.

Only two other games were played in the AL. Washington downed Baltimore 4-1 and Detroit halted New York 7-3.

Killebrew clouted two homers for the Twins, one with two men aboard. Allison, Rich Rollins and Zoilo Versalles also connected against the White Sox.

Rollins wound up driving in five runs, three on his fifth homer and two on a double.

Minnesota now has slammed 51 homers in 26 games, a rate that would give the Twins a major league record of 318 at the end of the season. The New York Yankees hold the record

Suffered Heart Attack 6 Weeks Ago

Tebbetts Pleased With Tribe Showing, Still Recuperating

DETROIT (AP) — Cleveland manager Birdie Tebbetts says he's not at all surprised by the Indians' fine showing so far this season—just tickled.

"I knew that guys like (John) Romano and (Tito) Francona would come back strong, and I told you all spring Tommy John could win the the big leagues," Tebbetts said Thursday in a telephone interview from his home on Anna Marie Island, Fla.

Tebbetts suffered a heart attack six weeks ago in Tucson, Ariz., while the Tribe was getting ready for the major league season to open. He said he spent part of his "first real day out of the hospital" writing thank you notes.

Getting back to the Indians, Tebbetts said:

"I'm especially happy to see the team bounce back the way it did after losing four to the Yankees. It's a good sign—and good therapy.

"I never worried for a minute about the kind of job George Strickland would do and I couldn't be happier for him than I am."

Since taking over the managerial reins of the Tribe, Strickland has kept the team in first place or near the top. He is a former Indian coach and infielder and this is his first real crack at managing a big league club.

Tebbetts said he feels good but he is closely following his doctors' advice to take it easy.

"I want to live and I want to manage and to do that I've got to give both the same chance," said Birdie.

Tebbetts wouldn't speculate whether he might be able to return to the Tribe again this season, but he said he plans to spend most of the late summer in Cleveland with his family.

Top Court Due to Release More Landmark Decisions

EDITOR'S NOTE—Ten years ago Sunday, the Supreme Court made the historic civil rights ruling that separate educational facilities are inherently unequal. Following is a synopsis of the history the court has been making in that difficult field since—and a look ahead to some expected landmark decisions.

By PAUL M. YOST
WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten years after its historic decision against racial segregation in public schools, the Supreme Court is due to follow up with more landmark rulings in the difficult civil rights field.

Any Monday before term-closing day in June, the high tribunal may decide the fate of several thousand Negroes and whites arrested for sit-in demonstrations at Southern lunch counters and other private business places.

The troublesome issue that confronts the nine justices is validity, under the Constitution, of the use of state criminal trespass laws to enforce private discrimination.

Equally difficult is a pending case from Prince Edward County in Virginia, where schools were closed in 1959 to avoid court-ordered admission of Negroes to classes.

The justices have been asked to order the county to levy taxes for desegregated schools, and to declare unconstitutional the closing of county schools while public schools elsewhere in Virginia remain open.

The Prince Edward case was one of the original school segregation cases decided by the Supreme Court on May 17, 1954, and some court observers have predicted that the case may be acted on finally next Monday—10 years and a day after the first momentous ruling.

Chief Justice Earl Warren a decade ago pronounced the fateful words that "separate educational facilities are inherently unequal." He declared for a unanimous court that Negroes cannot legally be barred from public schools because of race.

Numerous lawsuits followed in lower federal courts as Negro parents and Negro organizations pressed for compliance with the decree. The Supreme Court mostly let the lower courts struggle with the cases until recently. Then it heard arguments in the Prince Edward case and in another appeal involving Atlanta.

The latter case, also up for decision in May or June, questions the validity of Atlanta's gradual desegregation plan that started from the top down, beginning with the 11th and 12th grades.

While school cases worked their way through the lower courts, the high tribunal in the last decade took on and decided numerous disputes in the civil rights field that appeared to be sparked by the 1954 segregation ruling. Time and again final decisions in that field hinged on a basic holding that any activity having a government connection must be open to Negroes and whites without discrimination.

For instance, just a year ago the court called for immediate desegregation of parks, playgrounds and other city recreational facilities in Memphis. The city had pleaded in vain for use of a program of gradual desegregation. Earlier, Atlanta was told to allow Negroes to use its public golf course and Baltimore's city-owned swimming pool.

more was directed to allow both races to use public parks and pools.

In a case from Wilmington, Del., the court ordered Negroes admitted to a privately operated restaurant in a state-owned building devoted largely to car parking. Authority of Colorado's antidiscrimination commission to order job-tests for a Negro pilot was upheld and Richmond, Va., was told it could not require Negroes to sit in a special section in its traffic court.

A major victory for campaigners against racial discrimination was a Warren opinion of last May. He declared then that state laws, city ordinances and statements by their officials are totally ineffective to bar Negroes from peaceful sit-in demonstrations in public business places.

The sit-in cases now pending before the court for decision raise the question of what to do about arrests in instances where there are no such laws or statements by public officials.

Another major victory in the efforts to crack segregation barriers was Supreme Court reversal of breach of the peace convictions of 187 Negro students who demonstrated outside the South Carolina State House in Columbia. The court said the convictions infringed the Negroes' constitutional rights of free speech, free assembly and freedom of petition for redress of grievances.

Some observers saw the Columbia decision as opening the flood gates for numerous street demonstrations in various states in recent months.

Apparently out of patience over arrests of Negroes under local laws affecting transportation, the high court had this to say:

"We have settled beyond question that no state may require racial segregation of interstate or intrastate transportation facilities. The question is no longer open; it is foreclosed as a litigable issue."

Young said the party "must have a full time chairman of our state executive committee and I know that either Morton Neipp or Joseph Sarosy would move to Columbus and devote full time—14 hours a day—right up to election day to the duties of being state chairman of our party."

Adding that "in my judgment a change is highly advisable," Young noted Coleman's law practice in Columbus and Marysville. "He is an excellent attorney. He necessarily has been giving time and effort to his law business," Young said.

The senator said an effective state organization will mean a sweeping victory for President Johnson. Young's own reelection to the Senate and a gain in the Democratic membership in the House from Ohio.

James Walter Smith, 17, Lisbon R.D. 5, was fined $20 for failing to stop within an assured clear distance.

Gail William Baughman, 16, New Waterford R.D. 1, was warned for failure to stop within the assured clear distance. All were cited by the state highway patrol.

BAGFUL OF RECORDS — Tracy Barnes, 25, of Minneapolis, Minn., went aloft in his home-built rig, including black bag full of oxygen—and came down with a claimed trophy of seven free-flight records. Barnes says he reached 37,000 feet altitude, breaking the class 3-A record held by a Russian of 23,286 feet—plus six other records, set by larger balloons.

Young Asks Ouster of Dems Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, has sent letters to members of his party's state central committee asking that William L. Coleman be ousted as Ohio Democratic chairman.

The central committee meets Monday in Columbus and indications are that Coleman will be re-elected.

Young said committee members the names of Joseph Sarosy and Morton Neipp as replacements for Coleman. Sarosy is chairman of the Lake County Democratic Committee and Neipp is Lucas County chairman.

Young said the party "must have a full time chairman of our state executive committee and I know that either Morton Neipp or Joseph Sarosy would move to Columbus and devote full time—14 hours a day—right up to election day to the duties of being state chairman of our party."

Adding that "in my judgment a change is highly advisable," Young noted Coleman's law practice in Columbus and Marysville. "He is an excellent attorney. He necessarily has been giving time and effort to his law business," Young said.

Middle East War Feared By British

By DENNIS NEELD
ADEN (AP)—The remains of two British soldiers whose heads were hacked off by rebel tribesmen are being buried in Aden today with full military honors.

The headless bodies of Capt. Robin Edwards and Pvt. John Warburton were discovered in the Radian Mountains 60 miles north of Aden by troops of the British-protected Federation of South Arabia. British army authorities announced Thursday night.

The shallow graves near the Yemen frontier were within a few hundred yards of where Edwards' nine-man patrol ran into more than 100 rebels April 30. Edwards and Warburton were killed as the patrol charged shoulder to shoulder and broke through a ring of tribesmen.

The rest of the patrol escaped. An intelligence report said the severed heads were buried just across the Yemen border in Qataba.

Four days later the British Middle East commander said the heads had been displayed on spikes in Taiz, one of Yemen's two capitals. The report shocked British public opinion.

Later U.S. officials at Taiz reported that the heads had not been displayed there. Leaders of Britain's opposition Labor party criticized the Conservative government for putting out an unverified report.

In London, Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home told the House of Commons Thursday night that the Middle East is ready to erupt into war. But he said his government had no intention of intervening in the struggle between Yemen's republican and royalist factions.

Douglas-Home said Britain's only objective is to protect its military base at Aden and live up to its treaty obligations of the South Arabian federation, which is menaced by rebel tribesmen supported by the Yemen republicans and President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

Nasser has called on the Arab world to expel Britain from the Middle East.

Columbiana PTO Installs Officers

By MRS. CHARLES WRIGHT

COLUMBIANA — Jack Kimpel was installed as president of the Parent-Teacher Organization for the 1964-65 school year at Wednesday's meeting in the high school auditorium, which was attended by 200 persons.

Other officers installed were: Ryan Snyder, vice president; Mrs. Charles Porter and Mrs. Walter Schmidt, co-project chairmen; Mrs. George Carl, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John Hutson, recording secretary; and Mrs. Robert Barrow, treasurer.

New and old officers have scheduled a meeting for consultation purposes Monday at South School.

Rev. Clarence Mansfield, pastor of the First Christian Church, gave devotions. The Junior High Band, under the direction of Dale Guchemund, presented several selections.

Open house was held in the high school preceding and following the meeting.

SECOND ANNUAL Garden Mart, sponsored by the Garden Forum of the Greater Youngstown Area, will be joined by the local Columbiana Garden Club, which will sell flower arrangement containers and milk glass at the exhibit to be displayed at the Canfield Fairgrounds from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday.

Seventy clubs from throughout the area will sell hand-made articles, wall plaques, baskets, baked goods, garden supplies and flowering plants. Mrs. William Stamets is in charge of arrangements, aided by Mrs. Hattie Stahl, Mrs. Ray Maurer and Miss Virginia Hart.

Mrs. George Fisher of Court St. will be hostess to the Columbiana Mother's Club meeting at 8:30 p.m. Monday with Mrs. Glen Eckert serving as co-hostess. Mrs. James Magill will discuss her work in the realm of fashion, following the business meeting and election of officers.

COLUMBIANA BRANCH of Salem City Hospitals Auxiliary will hold a sewing session at 10 a.m. Monday at Grace United Church of Christ. Members attending are asked to bring a sack lunch. Beverages will be provided.

Presbyterian Youth Fellowship is sponsoring a dance for students in grades 7 through 12 from 8 to 11 p.m. Saturday at Joshua Dixon School.

VFW Home in Columbiana will be the scene of the annual Columbiana County Stamp Exhibit from noon to 10 p.m. Saturday and from noon to 6 p.m. Sunday. Robert P. Kelm is president of the organization.

This year's cachet cover will feature a picture of Columbiana's first postmaster, John Hiner, who held the position in 1840. The Postman Stamps, issued in 1963, and the special Exhibition Post Office cancellation, Coleplex V, will be used by the club.

Reminder Issued on Campaign Expenses

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the County Election Board, today issued a reminder that sworn statements of campaign expenses must be filed by June 19 at 4 p.m. by all candidates in the primaries May 5, as well as by individuals and committees that supported or opposed any issue or candidate.

O'Hanlon said the report forms were mailed on election day to all candidates except those who had no opposition for central committee posts. With the mailing went a copy of the "Corrupt Practices Act," which puts a ceiling on campaign spending.

O'Hanlon said blank report forms also were mailed to all campaign committees of which the election board had knowledge.

However, committees that did not receive a copy of the blank are not relieved of the responsibility of filing a report, he warned.

East Palestine Board Not Wasting Time

The East Palestine Board of Education broke a record Thursday when it filed a proposed levy with the County Election Board at East Liverpool for a ballot place at the general election Nov. 3.

Filed more than five months in advance, the proposition was received earlier than any other special question or issue for a general election, according to Frank R. O'Hanlon, Election Board clerk. The proposal calls for renewal of a 3.5-mill levy for five years for current operating expenses.

VOTES TO KILL RESOLUTION

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, voted with 41 other Democrats Thursday as the Senate voted 42-33 to table and thus killed resolution by Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., to broaden the investigation of the Bobby Baker case. Ohio's other senator, Democrat Frank Lausche, was not recorded as voting.

Ohio Bar Assn. Urges Court Reshuffling

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio State Bar Association, at its annual meeting here, has approved a proposal to reorganize Ohio's court system including fusion of several lower courts into the common pleas courts.

The plan, approved by the 76-member Council of Delegates at the opening session Thursday, will be presented at the next session of the legislature. It seeks a constitutional amendment redefining the powers of the State Supreme Court, courts of appeals, and courts of common pleas.

The common pleas courts would assume jurisdiction of the probate, juvenile, municipal, county, police, mayor's and other such subordinate courts under the proposal.

It calls for judges to be picked by a state judicial nominating commission, with appointment by the governor, instead of by election.

Other proposals passed would:

—Raise judges' salaries.

—Establish a tax appeals court and a state board of claims.

—Call a conference of newsmen and attorneys to develop a statement of principles regarding the reporting of court news.

—Simplify the procedures of land condemnation.

Despite some urging to keep separate common pleas, juvenile, domestic relations and probate courts, the reorganization plan was approved by a vast majority, according to a bar association spokesman.

Examples of salary raises proposed for judges are:

Full-time municipal judges, now getting a maximum of $15,000 annually, would get up to a maximum of $24,000. County court judges' pay would go from a $4,000 maximum to a $6,000 maximum. Salaries of probate and juvenile court judges would be increased from a $9,000 minimum to a $13,000 minimum.

Anthony Henraath, 178 Stark St., Salem, vs. Mollie Stidham Williams, Southpark, N.C., Ewell Williams, 214 W. State St., Salem, and Lawrence Jackson, Salem R.D. 3; action for $500 damages to 1960 automobile in garage struck by truck of defendants.

Home Demonstration Groups Will Meet

So effective was Oklahoma's first education system, established by its Five Civilized Indian Tribes in the 1830s, that many Cherokeees, Chickasaws, Choctaws, Creeks and Seminoles could read Greek and Latin while white traders and trappers who dealt with them couldn't sign their own names.
